

MILWAUKEE WORKING

The Dignity of Employment

Collection/Drive at Gesu, November 4 & 5

Milwaukee Working is a non-profit organization in the central city creating jobs for men and women who are underemployed, never employed, or background-challenged in various ways. MW goes beyond job training and resumé building to employ people full-time, offering life transformation through the dignity of work. Their business ventures include a wood shop and an online department for selling used books, DVDs, CDs, and video games on Amazon.com.

MW works with partners that believe in their mission of creating an environment where men and women not only survive, but also thrive with direction and guidance.

Gesu will be hosting a collection drive for Milwaukee Working on November 4 & 5. Please save your gently-used books (textbooks & children's books, too), CDs, DVDs, and video games. Place them in the MW collection bins in church that weekend. www.milwaukeeworking.org/
